

An aerial, black and white photograph of a city, likely Rome, showing a dense urban grid, a river (the Tiber), and a bridge. The word 'IMAGINAR' is overlaid in white, with a stylized white 'M' above it.

M IMAGINAR

ISSN 2184-2329

Flores & Prats Architects
Imaginarium of an architect

Many intuitive decisions taken during the process of making a project are visible through drawings, models and other objects, forming its culture and its world of influences. A collection of all the fabrications, memories and references that filled our heads throughout the development of the Sala Beckett Drama Centre, travelled to the Venice Biennale two years ago, to introduce the visitors into the imaginarium of our architecture studio.

